Weekday	Activities
Monday	We continued on with what we started and kept working on the user interface. While working on that we thought about how many roles we would have and how to render the UI according to their assigned roles.
Tuesday	Tuesday was also spent the same we integrated our back-end part of our project with the user interface.
Wednesday	On Wednesday along with the interface we worked on user registration and log in pages.
Thursday	On Thursday, we worked on finishing as much as we can of the user interface.
Friday	On Friday we continued with the user interface and the registration pages along with integrating the rest the pages of our project with the interface.

To generalize , we spent the entire week working on the user interface , integrating the user interface with the back-end of our project we finished so far and also working on registering new users and signing in registered users.
