Weekday	Activities
Monday	On Monday we started working on the front end part of our project. We started with the home page and what user interface features we would need and what would be displayed on the home pages.
Tuesday	On Tuesday we have roughly figured out what the home page should look like and our supervisor told us instead of trying to build the user interface from scratch we should look for templates and to modify the template according to our project and what we want it to look like using frameworks. So we started looking for basic templates that could serve as our startup.
Wednesday	On Wednesday we found a template but it was not like how we want it and it would need a lot of changes and modification for it work along with our project. So we spent the day looking at tutorials about how to integrate a template in asp.net core projects.
Thursday	On Thursday we started modifying the whole template and divide it in to different parts of the project and remove what we don't need and taking note what additional featured we would need to add.
Friday	On Friday we continued with what we started on the previous day. As we went along with the process we realized we need to add a lot of additional JavaScript codes, css styles and jquery libraries of our own so we continued on making the front end part of the user interface.

Generally, we spent the entire week designing the basic user interface of our project and integrating it with in our project.
